What happens when children decide what they want to learn this summer?

AT PDXMC....

We recognize that for children, learning doesn't stop just because it's summer! For many children, the skills that they have been working on all school year are just starting to come together in June. In order to keep children challenged and inspired, we've developed a program that strikes a nice balance of skill building and unstructured work/play time. Some of the values that guide our program:

- Structured and unstructured outdoor play time
- Healthy snacks
- Field trips, gardening, library trips
- Maintaining, advancing, and developing reading, writing and math and science skills in the context of child directed activities
